 Less than 1 year (1)       1 to less than 3 years (2)       3 to 7 years (3)       More than 7 years (4)
3. Does the Unitholder need current income from this investment for regular expenses?
 Critical (1)       Needed to a large degree (2)       Needed to a minor extent (3)       Not important (4)
4. What percentage of the Unitholder’s total assets will this investment represent?
 More than 60% (1)       More than 30% to 60% (2)       10 – 30% (3)       Less than 10% (4)
5. What is the Unitholder’s investment attitude?
 Cannot accept any losses in value of my investments regardless of higher potential return (1)
 Can accept small losses in value of my investments for the possibility of achieving moderately higher returns. (2)
 Can accept losses in value of my investments for the possibility of achieving greater returns (3)
 Has a high return expectation for my investments and have no investment constraints. (4)
6. Investing involves a trade-off between risk and return. Over the long run, the riskier investments have the potential to give investors higher returns than less risky investments as well as the possibility of suffering higher losses.
What is the Unitholder’s risk tolerance level?
 Very low: need secured and capital protection investment regardless of lowest returns and expect current income from investments (1)
 At certain level: can accept some risk/volatility for the possibility of achieving higher long-term returns. (2)
 Moderate: can tolerate market downturns and volatility for the possibility of achieving greater long-term returns (3)
 High: can tolerate the highest degrees of fluctuation (sharp, short-term volatility) in the value of investments for the highest long-term gains. (4)
7. Over some period of time, a very conservative investment mainly focusing on capital protection would generate returns less than inflation rate, which could reduce the purchasing power. Considering the Unitholder’s investment objective, Which of the following choices best reflects the Unitholder’s attitude toward inflation and risk?
 Need to avoid loss of principal despite receiving lower returns than an inflation rate (1)
 Can accept small losses of principal to achieve higher returns than an inflation rate (2)
 Want to outpace inflation and can tolerate risk/volatility (3)
 Willing to endure large fluctuations in the value of my portfolio for the chance of obtaining a higher return and beating inflation significantly. (4)
8. How large are the losses from investments in Mutual Fund that the Unitholder’s could accept?
 Less than 10% (1)       10% to Less than 20% (2)       20 – 50% (3)       More than 50% (4)
